

The latest on NSS-related events, publications, and expert availability.

Social Media Guide

The Fissile Materials Working Group (FMWG) is using Twitter and Facebook to talk about nuclear security before, during, and after the 2016 Nuclear Security Summit (NSS). Below are Twitter handles and hashtags we will be using, and we encourage members of the media and FMWG partner organizations to use them as well.

Twitter Handles:

@FMWG - Fissile Materials Working Group

@NSS2016 - Official Nuclear Security Summit

@ReThinkDefense Nuclear List - Public Twitter list of individuals and organizations that focus on nuclear issues

U.S. Government:

@POTUS | @WhiteHouse | @JBWolfsthal | @Rhodes44 | @StateDept | @JohnKerry | @Gottemoeller | @Ctramb
@ISNAstSecy | @Energy | @NNSANews | @ErnestMoniz | @NSCPress | @StateDeptLive | @WHLive | @AmbassadorPower

Hashtags to follow and contribute to the discussion:

#NSS2016 – Official Nuclear Security Summit

#SSNF2016 – Official NGO Side Summit “Solutions for a Secure Nuclear Future”

#5Priorities

#Nuclear

#NuclearSecurity

Updates and links will also be posted on the FMWG Facebook page.

About FMWG

The Fissile Materials Working Group (FMWG) is a coalition of 80 civil society organizations from around the world working to provide actionable policy solutions to keep the world safe from nuclear terrorism. • www.fmwg.org • Contact: Joseph McNamara at +1-214-502-4662 or jmcnamara@stanleyfoundation.org